With the immense competition it becomes very difficult for a jobseeker to find a job. In this blog I am enlisting some tips which could help you to find a good job as a fresher easily.

1. Better resume

A resume is something which is your first chance to make an impression on the recruiter. Studies have shown that on an average a recruiter spends 6 seconds on your resume. So you only have that time to make an impression. I bet your education, skills might not impress the recruiter in 6 seconds. What about a visual resume?

2. A good referral

Sometimes it becomes very hard to get a job through campus placement and through mass recruitment drives for a fresher. You should not get disheartened with this. Companies also hire from internal employees referral. You should try to contact employees of the company to refer for a particular vacancy. You could find them on linkedin.

3. Do an internship

Internship during college time is what I feel very important. It gives you a vision of your career and also a taste of so called "Corporate Life". Moreover it gives you that extra chance to take a risk to choose your correct career path. Studies have shown that 70% of the interns are hired by the company they do internship in.

4. Build your profile – Qualifications

It is very important for your career that you focus on one thing and take it ahead. Rather than be the one who knows many things but does not expertise in anything. This is where internships helps, you get a second shot at deciding what would be best for you.

5. Homework before interview

It is very important that you go ready for an interview. You should do a proper research about the company and learn about their business also. It would also be better to search about the person who will be taking your interview. You can search about the company on the linkedin page of the company.
